

DASA SRE NEXT GEN - INCLUDING EXAM

Course Code: 831192

This two-day certification course offers a comprehensive understanding of how to integrate AI into DevOps practices, driving operational efficiency, automation, and innovation. Participants will explore ways to integrate AI into their CI/CD pipelines, reliability, security, and platform engineering practices, while learning how to leverage AI-powered tools for continuous improvement and efficient product delivery.

This certification program equips IT professionals to implement DevAI Ops practices effectively, achieving faster time-to-market and time-to-value, and iterative development.

What You'll Learn

After completing this program, you will be able to:

- Build mental models to reason about, configure, and troubleshoot AI-powered tools used in DevOps environments.
- Design and work with intelligent CI/CD pipelines that improve delivery speed, quality, and automation.
- Shift toward predictive operations by interpreting, configuring, and critically evaluating AI-powered observability outputs.
- Design, implement, and operate an MLOps platform on top of existing DevOps infrastructure that governs the full model lifecycle.
- Apply a security framework for AI-powered systems spanning the CI/CD pipeline, runtime environment, and AI-specific attack surface.
- Design and operate a platform that delivers AI infrastructure as self-service developer capabilities with optimized cost, performance, and compliance.
- Implement a governance framework that ensures AI systems meet regulatory, ethical, and organizational accountability requirements throughout the model lifecycle.

Who Needs to Attend

- Product Owners and Managers
- Developers and Application Team Leads
- Project and Program Managers
- DevOps & Automation Engineers
- Software Managers and Team Leads

- Ops Architects and Engineers
- Cloud Engineers
