

PROFESSIONAL SCRUM PRODUCT OWNER™ - ADVANCED

Course Code: 831501

Professional Scrum Product Owner - Advanced (PSPO-A) is a hands-on, activity-based course designed to help experienced Product Owners and Product Managers develop their ability to set a vision, validate their assumptions and, ultimately, deliver more value to their stakeholders.

This two -day professional course, Professional Product Owner - Advanced (PSPO -A), aims to help experienced practitioners to develop their ability to establish a solid vision, to validate their hypotheses and to bring more value to their stakeholders. The PSPO-A course is intended for product owners who wish to develop their knowledge and their capacities.

The course goes beyond the subjects covered in the PSPO course (Professional Scrum Product Owner) by deepening the understanding of the role by the participant by exploring the many postures of a professional product owner. This course is an interactive and experimental workshop during which participants explore subjects by means of a series of exercises and discussions. Students must have at least one year of experience as product owner and practical knowledge of scrum to be able to participate in these exercises and take advantage of them.

What You'll Learn

- Learn the different positions that a product owner adopts to face daily challenges.
- Introduce modern complementary practices through discussions, case studies and exercises.
- Learn the different types of stakeholders that product owners represent and how to work with them.
- Gain a clear understanding of agile product management to continue their journey as a Product Owner.

Who Needs to Attend

This course is intended for Product Owners, Product Managers and Business Analysts. It focuses on skills, tools, techniques, and knowledge in terms of product management in the context of their work within the Scrum team.

The course doesn't cover much of the scrum framework, and we assume that participants have a good understanding of it. Participants must have at least a year of experience as product owner or product manager. Having a Professional Scrum

Product Owner (PSPO) certification is preferable, but not mandatory.

Other people could benefit from the PSPO-A course, in particular

- Scrum masters / agile coaches
- Business leaders
