

STORYTELLING IN DATA

Course Code: 840037

Learn how to craft a compelling data story.

Storytelling in Data will explore the concept of Data Visualization, understanding what it is, the various types of charts, and how to choose the right visualization for the data at hand. Learners will also be introduced to Generative AI Tools for data visualization, which are essential in the modern data-driven world.

This course aims to equip learners with a solid foundation in data storytelling and visualization and in creating a compelling data story, along with how to anticipate potential barriers.

What You'll Learn

- Learn chart types and when to use them.
- Evaluate generative AI tools for data visualization.
- Use visual design elements to create effective data visualizations.
- Encode data with color meaningfully and follow accessibility guidelines.
- Evaluate data quality through data collection, cleaning, and compiling stages.
- Avoid misleading data visualizations.
- Balance making an argument with representing data accurately.
- Tailor data visualizations to specific audiences.
- Address barriers that audiences face in understanding or taking action.
- Ethically communicate data through data storytelling.

Who Needs to Attend

Data analysts, data visualization practitioners, and technical AI users who want to create more compelling arguments with their data, and learn how to combine data, text, and visualizations to craft a data story.

Prerequisites

- Familiarity with a data visualization tool, such as Tableau or PowerBI
- Basic familiarity with data visualization
