

FROM DOING TO LEADING - LEADING WITH IMPACT

Course Code: 8624

Designed for new managers transitioning from an independent contributor to a people leader to better understand their new accountabilities and skills required for success.

Making the transition from an individual contributor to a people leader is both a challenge and an opportunity. As a people leader, you must transition from doing the work yourself to getting the work done with and through others. It requires a shift of mindset to take on new accountabilities that support your direct reports and the organization as a whole.

In this course, you will explore these new accountabilities and learn new skills and processes that help you balance priorities, overcome roadblocks, earn respect, and establish credibility.

Benefits for the Individual

- Enhanced knowledge of critical leadership accountabilities
- Increased awareness of opportunities for personal development of leadership capabilities
- Improved ability to prioritize your activities as a people leader and manage your workload
- Greater clarity on the impact of earning respect and establishing credibility as a leader
- Increased confidence to manage people

Benefits for the Organization

- Improved leadership capability
- Greater clarity and common understanding of key leadership accountabilities
- Enhanced engagement of leaders in their roles

What You'll Learn

- Accountabilities of your people leadership role
- Opportunities for development in your leadership role
- Plan your time allocation to reflect your accountabilities
- Utilize a system to set priorities for yourself and your direct reports
- Develop your credibility as a people leader in your organization

Who Needs to Attend

Leaders at all levels: new managers, supervisors, team leaders, project managers, or seasoned managers wishing to enhance their current skill set
